You should consider whether you understand how these products work, and whether you can afford to incur losses and have the appropriate risk appetite. We recommend you seek professional advice before investing.

2. Miles's Best Execution Obligations

- 2.1. Miles provides leveraged (margin) trading, on an execution-only basis for its Client's in Forex and CFD trading.
- 2.2. It is Miles's decision as to what markets to offer its clients and we will deal with you as principal and counterparty to each trade, providing you with two-way price quotes. As such, every market offered by Miles is quoted as a derivative of the underlying market and we are the only execution venue to which you have access through us.
- 2.3. Under the OXO (Orders-Crossing-Orders) ECN model, certain Miles Qualified Participants are able to provide liquidity in competition within the interbank pricing pool. Such Qualified Participants hold collateral directly with Miles (and not vice versa) to ensure that funds are protected under strict client funds procedures. To qualify, Qualified Participants must be financial institutions that have met the necessary capital requirements and have the sophisticated technological means to provide the required streaming pricing.
- 2.4. Miles acknowledges that if you may rely upon us to provide or display bid and offer prices which are the best available prices for investors on a consistent basis.
- 2.5. Miles will act in accordance with the best interests of our clients when placing orders with other entities for execution. In complying with this duty Miles must take all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible result for its clients considering the execution factors.
- 2.6. The execution factors are: price, costs, speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, size, nature, and any other consideration relevant to the order.

2.7. The relative importance of these factors must be determined by reference to the “execution criteria” and, the requirement to determine the best possible result in terms of the total consideration (see below). The execution criteria are as follows:

- (i) the characteristics of the Client.
- (ii) the characteristics of the Client order.
- (iii) the characteristics of the financial instrument that are the subject of that order; and
- (iv) the characteristics of the execution venues to which that order can be directed.

2.8. When Miles executes an order on behalf of a client, the best possible result must be determined in terms of the total consideration, representing the price of the financial instrument and the costs related to execution, which must include all expenses incurred by the Client which are directly related to the execution of the order. These will include the execution venue fees, clearing and settlement fees and any other fees paid to third parties involved in the execution of the order.

2.9. While Miles will seek to ensure that the prices, we display are competitive we are not able to give a warranty, express or implied, that the bid and offer prices displayed on our trading systems always represent the best prevailing market prices for investors. Our quoted prices may reflect market volatility or additional costs and charges which may result in an increase in the spread as well as per transaction.

2.10. Factors include:

- (i) PRICE: Miles takes the underlying market price of the derivative it is quoting and then applies an algorithm to this price to achieve its own market price. The underlying feed that Miles uses may be from one source in the case of FX from several feeds. Where several feeds are used the best bid and offer combinations are used to maintain tight spreads at all times.
- (ii) COSTS: Our market price will often be different to the underlying as it may also include commissions or financing.
- (iii) LIQUIDITY: The price made by Miles, similar to the underlying market, is usually good in up to a certain size. In order to maintain additional liquidity, a different spread may be applied to the price provided in the underlying market.
- (iv) SPEED OF EXECUTION: In order to facilitate the speed of execution Miles has imposed a maximum deal size on every market. This limit is regularly monitored and takes into consideration many factors including liquidity and volatility to determine an amount that we are confident to accept without referral to speed up execution.

2.11. Other Factors: While the above four factors are considered by Miles to be the most important in our best execution policy, there are many other situations which can arise leading to price.

- (i) Some markets which are quoted by Miles are done so outside of normal market hours, and as such are known as ‘grey markets’. In these situations, while every effort is made to keep prices and spreads consistent, this may not always be possible during volatile periods or during periods of illiquidity in corresponding markets.
- (ii) Financing charges made by Miles are fair, competitive, and transparent. These may include fees required to roll over open positions and shall be disclosed to you on our website and the trading platform.
- (iii) There may be situations, through third party introductions or through partnership deals with affiliated companies that a commission or other income generated from your trade is shared with third parties. In such circumstances this will be made abundantly clear to the client by the party concerned and this information is available on request.
